U. S. A. FARMERS GET CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING

FRIGHTFUL SCENE IN IRELAND WHEN ULSTER SPECIALS ARE KILLED

Ulster "Specials" Lined Up And Shot Down

Party Of The Irish Republican Army Uses Machine Gun

Craig Demands Action

BELFAST, Feb. 12—Four Ulster special constables were shot at the railway station at Clones, late Saturday afternoon, eight others were wounded and six are missing. Matthew Fitzpatrick, leader of the Sinn Féin, had waited at the station for twenty minutes without sign of attack. Then the train arrived and the special constables moved towards it, firing began. In the exchange of shots Fitzpatrick, who seemed to be in command of the attacking party, was killed. A couple of regular Royal Irish Constabulary men who were on the train without arms were allowed to proceed unmolested. One hundred men it is estimated took part in the attack.

The occupants of the train were lined up in two bodies, the civilians on one side and the constables on the other. Everyone was searched for arms. The civilians were then ordered back in the train and the wounded constables were taken to an unknown destination. Meantime the dead and wounded who fell in the first onslaught, were laid in rows on the platform. Only a few special constables had time to draw their revolvers before they were overpowered. In the exchange of shots Fitzpatrick, who seemed to be in command of the attacking party, was killed. A couple of regular Royal Irish Constabulary men who were on the train without arms were allowed to proceed unmolested. One hundred men it is estimated took part in the attack.

WM. ROCKEFELLERS COSTLY TOMB FOR SLEEPY HOLLOW

TORONTO, Jan. 25—A despatch to the Globe says the movement of a 32 ton slab of granite through the streets of Tarrytown, N.Y., yesterday with the aid of cables and automobile trucks, disclosed the fact that a mausoleum is being built in Sleepy Hollow for William Rockefeller.

The mausoleum is to have twenty catacombs for receiving bodies. There are two large crypts in the centre. In one of these the body of Mrs. William Rockefeller, now in a receiving vault, will be placed and the other will be reserved for Mr. Rockefeller.

Employees of the cemetery declared to-day the new mausoleum is to cost approximately $250,000. It is being built of granite and other costly stone and when finished will be one of the most imposing structures of its kind in this country.

Always Get Their Man

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 12—The old adage that the Royal Canadian Mounted Police always get their man is true in the case of Sergeant Stevens who arrived here yesterday with Chow Shimookski, taken into custody in Mexico City, after a chase lasting nearly six months and covering 10,000 miles. Shimookski, wanted for a double murder in Prince Rupert, B.C., fled across Canada, then through the Atlantic States from Maine to Florida and thence to New Orleans and into Mexico, according to Sergeant Stevens.

Her Reward OR Love's Recompense

CHAPTER XXII.

Shattered Hopes.

But she was very grave, even troubled, on her way home. She did not know, how far her daughter had become interested in Richard Waldemar, for they had never exchanged any conversation upon the subject; she had only been able to judge by Grace's manner while in his society, but she was pretty sure she regarded him with very tender feelings.

Shesolved, however, not to tell her anything of what Miss Waldemar had confided to her regarding his relations with Annie Noble.

"Maybe she does not care for him as much as I imagine," she said to herself, "but even if she does, it will be better for her to make the discovery herself; it will hurt her pride less, and she will get over it more quickly if she thinks no one else suspects her regard for Mr. Waldemar. I do not wonder," she added, "at his alling in love with that sweet thing—she is charming! and Adrain Noble's daughter, if she inherits any of her father's character, will make a worthy wife for any man," but the sigh which accompanied these thoughts betrayed deep regret for her own disappointed hopes.

But at the same time her tenderest sympathies were alive for the unfortunate child of her former friend, and she resolved to do all in her power to make life pleasant for her while she should remain in her family.

Her husband was as shocked as she had been upon learning the story of her misfortune, and grew somewhat excited while talking it over afterward.

"Adrain Noble has a rich man, I am very sure, three years ago," he confidently asserted, "and I am inclined to think that there has been some trickery about the settlement of his affairs; at all events, I shall take it upon myself to investigate matters, if for nothing more, than to be satisfied upon that point."

Grace was quite elated at the thought of having a young companion, for such the Campbells seemed determined to make Annie.

CHAPTER XXIII.

A Woman's Warning.

Grace Campbell had been so charmed with her mother's description of Annie Noble, that she went the next day to make her acquaintance, and to call upon Miss Waldemar.

She found them chatting in the most social manner in their cool, pleasant parlor, into which she, herself, came like a breeze from some sylvan retreat, with her fresh sparkling manner.

"I feel almost as if you were an old friend, Miss Noble," she said, when the introduction and greetings were over, "since learning that papa and Mr. Noble used to be intimately connected. I am very glad you are coming to us—I have no sister, you know, and it will be so pleasant to have a companion."

Annie looked up with an amazed smile; they all treated her more like an equal, socially, than like a dependent.

"You forget, Miss Campbell, that I am to be a very busy person in your household," she said.

Grace laughed merrily.

"You will not find our household such an remarkable industrious one, I imagine," she replied. "We are all very fond of taking life easy; besides," she added, archly, "I am allowed to have my own way somewhat, and if I see fit to monopolize you in a while, I do not believe any one will find fault. Now I am going to ride for an hour or two; won't you go put on your hat and come with me?"

The invitation was given in such an off-hand, sincere way that Annie was only too glad to accept it, and in a few minutes was ready for the drive. It proved a long and delightful one, and when the two girls returned they appeared already to have formed a strong friendship.

If Grace had hoped to meet Rich she was doomed to be disappointed, although it was about the hour for his return from the office; but something had detained him later than usual, and she was forced to bid Annie good-by and drive away without seeing him.

Rich, however, had met with quite an adventure on his return that summer evening that delayed him far beyond his usual hour.

As he entered the car that was to take him up town he seated himself beside a woman who had evidently been doing her marketing for the next day, for she had a large basket with her, which was filled with a variety of vegetables and packages.

She moved a little as Rich entered, to make room for him, giving him a casual glance as she did so.

She was dark-complexioned and sullen-looking, coarsely clad, and awkward in figure, and she gave a violent start as her eyes fell upon Rich.

She covertly watched him all the way up town, and when he arose to leave the car she arose also.

Seeing this, he stepped aside to allow her to pass out first with her heavy basket; but as she stepped to the ground her foot turned under her, she lost her balance and her hold upon her basket; at the same time, and both fell upon the rough pavement.

Rich, always tender-hearted, sprang forward to assist her, and raised her to her feet.

"Are you hurt?" he asked, but was answered only by a groan.

He helped her to the sidewalk, one of the way of the crowd of vehicles, where he beckoned to a boy and told him to gather up the basket and its contents.

But the woman evidently sprained her ankle, for she could not stand alone.

"Where do you live?" Rich questioned, while he wondered what he should do with her.

She pointed down a side street near them.

"No. 12," her white lips murmured.

"Can you walk if I help you, or shall I call a carriage?"

She shook her head at the last clause of his query, and tried to hobble along.

Rich told the boy, who had recovered the basket to follow them, and then supporting the suffering creature as well as he could, turned into the street she had indicated.

Fortunately it was not far to where he lived, and he assisted her to the door of her home. He would have opened it and helped her in, but she sank upon the step with a groan, and motioned for him to go away.

"Is there anything more that I can do for you?" he asked gently, feeling a deep sympathy for her suffering. "Shall I get one to come and help you or send for a physician?"

She shook her head decidedly, beckoned the boy to set her basket on the step beside her, and then rapped upon the door behind her.

It was opened almost instantly, and Rich, to his astonishment, found him self face to face with his enemy—John Crouch, the carpenter.

The man's eyes blazed with sudden anger, and an ugly scowl contracted his brow.

"Curse you! what are you doing here?" he demanded, fiercely; then noticing the evident suffering of Rich's companion, he turned to her, saying, coarsely: "Well, old woman, what's happened to you? Got into fine company, didn't you? Taint often folks in our station are so honored," he concluded, with an exasperating sneer.

The woman's pain, together with other exciting causes which were not known at that time, was more than she could bear, and she broke into nervous sobbing.

"What are you whimpering about now? What's the matter, anyway?" John Croucher demanded, rudely.

"Go into the house and shut up."

"Is she your mother?" Rich asked, flushing with indignation at the man's brutal words.

TREES

BY WALTER WELLMAN

You can start with any letter; move to the right, left, upward, downward or diagonally in any direction. How many trees can you spell? Answer to Saturday's puzzle: ALL SAD—DALLAS. LOVE GNATS—GALVESTON.

"I'm not aware that it's any of your business," snapped the man; "but if you're very anxious to know, she ain't my mother. I'd be ashamed to own such a sniveling creature."

"But the woman is suffering. She had had a fall, and I fear has sprained her ankle, and she needs sympathy and help," Rich said, sternly.

"Something is always the matter with her," growled John Croucher; and turned his back square upon Rich, rudely assisted the woman into the house, and shut the door with a bang.

Rich paid the boy for bringing the basket and dismissed him, then turned to go his own way thoroughly disgusted with the phase of humanity that he had just come in contact with.

This incident left an unpleasant impression upon him. There was something about the woman which haunted him for several days, while the brutality and hatred which the carpenter had displayed toward both him and her nettled him more than he would have cared to have known every time he thought of it.

He said nothing, however, to either Miss Waldemar or Annie about the affair, and after a time ceased to think of it himself, except occasionally to wonder how the unfortunate woman was getting over her fall.

NATIONALIZATION OR POOLING FISH

(By OBSERVER)

(The authorship of these articles was in Saturday's issue attributed to Pres. Coaker. This is not the case.)

THE FRUITS OF COMPETITION

Competition in the marketing of her fish causes Newfoundland to lose the cream of her natural wealth, and to have to put up with the crumbs.

Newfoundland's part in the marketing of her fish is remarkably like the part played by the sheep that is shorn. The "wool" does not go to the fishermen. It does not go to the exporters. It does not go to anyone in Newfoundland. It goes into foreign pockets.

DUMPING

We call it "marketing our fish." What we mean thereby is dumping the fish into a seething maelstrom which sucks from it whatever profit there is in it, and deposits the profit into the pockets of foreign bankers, dealers and agents.

It is the fatal product of the competitive system.

The competitive system means that the marketing of the million and a half quintals of fish is done by half a hundred exporters who act as individuals, each man for himself and necessarily, therefore, against all the other. The million and a half quintals of fish is split up into fifty odd quantities and shipped in as many lots to be marketed. Each lot is fighting its own battle. Each lot is seeking to sell itself to the foreign dealer. Each lot is in competition with all the other lots. It is truly a house divided against itself.

The natural result is that the dealers on the other side play the lots off one against the other, using one lot to defeat the other—a process rendered easy of accomplishment on account of the competition between the lots themselves.

THE CONSIGNMENT EVIL

An exporter in this country purchases so much fish from the fishermen. The money with which he buys this fish is borrowed from the banks, at 6 per cent. interest or more.

This money cannot be paid back to the bank until the fish is sold and paid for.

That is why it is vitally necessary for the exporter to get rid of his fish as quickly as it is humanly possible to do.

He rushes the fish across the ocean, consigning it to some broker in London. (Most of the brokers are in London.) This broker is not a man who is an expert in marketing, especially in marketing fish. He is a broker not only for fish. Fish is merely a sideline with him. He also deals with a number of other lines. He cannot by any means devote all his time and all his ability—if he has time—to the successful marketing of this exporter's fish.

Now the fish is on the other side. But it must not be imagined that the fish is sold. It has merely been shifted across the ocean. It finds itself in company with half a dozen, more or less, shipments in the same position as itself. There may be half a dozen cargoes, or more or less, in one port at the same time.

Now there begins the fight to get rid of the fish. The bank charges are piling up. Then demurrage charges are piling up. Sailors' wages are piling up. All the known expenses of a cargo of fish are piling up and lessening the eventual profit to be realized on the fish.

Also, the port is in a warm climate, and the fish is a perishable article, always liable to go bad on the owner's hands.

Here, then, is this exporter's cargo of fish in the market, under these conditions, in company with half a dozen cargoes in the same position. The market is already glutted. It is a fearful position.

But this is not all.

There is more fish on the ocean on the way. There is more fish in Newfoundland, to be shipped. Should all this be dumped into the market on top of what is there already, the result is complete and utter demoralization. Our exporter knows this, and he strains every sinew to get rid of the fish. He strains his sinews by proxy—that is, his broker does it for him. In reality, of course, he has very little to do in the affair, in most cases. However, he strains every muscle to sell his fish. He sees the terrible situation, and every factor is urging him on to sell.

FOREIGNER KNOWS, TOO

The buyer in that port sees it just as clearly as he does. He knows how much fish is in port, how much is on the water and how much is in Newfoundland to be shipped—knows it as well as the unfortunate exporter does himself. The buyer also knows that the port is in a hot climate. He knows that the fish is a perishable article, liable to go bad. He knows about demurrage charges, and sailors' wages, and bank charges. All these things he knows.

And now into his office walks the man representing the cargo of fish—or perhaps a telegram is brought into his office, which is the same thing.

"Have a cargo of fish to sell," says the newcomer. "So many thousand quintals. How much will you give me for it?"

"Well," says the cute foreigner, looking at him blandly, "as a matter of fact, we are not particularly anxious to buy codfish just now. We do not feel like buying on a falling market, you know. Fish will go lower, yet. Tell you what we will do: drop in to see me in a few days. We'll let you know then."

And so the unlucky fish man goes out with a heavy heart, and looks anxiously at the half dozen cargoes in port, and remembers a lot of things.

But meanwhile another fish man drops into the buyer's office, and repeats the same tale.

"How much do you want for your fish?" the buyer asks him imperturbably. Our fish man names his price. The foreigner raises his shoulders sardonically.

"But we can buy the fish for much less, my dear sir," he says. "The market is falling. We cannot pay what you ask."

ONE AGAINST THE OTHER

And so he plays them off one against the other. Thus does he use one to make the other more anxious to get rid of his fish. And thus do all the exporters get fleeced every year. And thus are the fishermen robbed of their hard-earned wealth. And thus is the country kept backward and in the rut. It is all in the marketing of the fish. Sometimes the exporter's worry is added to by the piling of the Bank for settlement. Or perhaps he has other financial pressure on him. In any case, if he makes on one cargo he is likely to lose on another. And if he clears his way one season he is likely to lose on another. And all the exporters are in the same position. They are all victims of the same vicious system. It has all of them entangled in its coils.

It is to smash this vicious system which enriches foreign dealers and brokers while it impoverishes our own people, that President Coaker is advocating Nationalization. How he, who is president of a union of fishermen, could do other than support such a plan, is impossible to imagine. Nationalization would benefit the fishermen primarily. First they, second the country generally, and third the exporters, would be benefited by Nationalization in practice.

Curlers Memorial Day

On Wednesday next the big Memorial Curling Day comes off. Bands will be in attendance at the rink all day.—The Methodist Guards Band in the morning, the C.C.C. in the afternoon, and the C.L.B.C. at night.

An all day Curling programme is being arranged, four sheets of ice being open from 9 a.m. till 9 p.m. Already special matches for special amounts have been arranged. Teas will be served at the Rink all the afternoon, and at St. Joseph's Hall nearby from 6 p.m. At 9 p.m. the Grand Auction takes place, and many additional donations have been received. A special feature will be the bidding for a trip in the Martinsyde aeroplane, Major Cotton having very generously offered flights free of charge to the three highest bidders. The Curlers are making a big effort to make the day a big success, and there is little doubt but their hopes will be fully realized.

Since last publication the following donations have been offered: The Secretary, viz.—2 packages Cigarettes (1000), 10th package Red Rose Tea, 1 package Toilet Soap, 1 set Electric Irons, 2 large Curlers' Cakes, 2 Barrels Flour, 4 $10.00 donations, 10th Tea, 1 set Aluminumware (6 saucepans) 1 Magnificent Lady's Ivory Walking Stick, 4 1/2 qts. Codfish, 1 Very Best Mattress, 1 Sack Potatoes, 10th Blossom Tea, Biscuits, Bread, etc., Anonymous $20.00, Room 17, Crosbie Hotel, $30.00; 1 Case Handsome Pipes, A Father that Lost a Son at Beaumont Hamel $25.00, 1 Barrel Flour, 1 Box Cigars.

MAJOR COTTON'S OFFER.

Major Cotton offers free of charge 3 flights in his magnificent Martinsyde aeroplane, to the 3 gentlemen bidding the highest price at the Grand Auction on Wednesday night commencing at 9 o'clock. Major Cotton has the sincere thanks of the Curling Association for his courtesy as one who has played his part in the great war, he has already made a name for himself in Newfoundland and the Curlers appreciate his offer all the more. Who will be the 3 lucky persons to have this most unusual trip? Whoever they are, they will always remember that the trip was undertaken in remembrance of those gallant warriors that lie in Flanders Fields, in the North Sea and other parts. WELL PLAYED MAJOR COTTON.

Be Up and Don't be Short.

MAJOR COTTON GIVING THREE FREE FLIGHTS TO CIVILIANS

Like the gallant soldiers that they are, Major Cotton and Captain Bennett are most anxious to do their bit towards the Newfoundland War Memorial, and with this object in view have placed both their services and machine at the disposal of the Memorial Committee. By their courtesy, it has therefore been arranged that on Wednesday noon (flying conditions permitting) both birdmen will circle the city, outlying suburbs, and points in Conception Bay as far as Carbonear, dropping War Memorial souvenirs in the nature of 15,000 tickets, each numbered consecutively. If those finding cards will return them with their names and addresses to the Memorial Committee, G.W.V.A. Building, accompanied by a remittance of one dollar, as a subscription to the fund, they will be given a chance of a flight. It is proposed that when the cards are returned a public draw will take place, and the three lucky ones will go aloft (if they so desire) with the gallant aviators; or they have the right of transferring the privilege to anyone they may name. Cards returned accompanied by a donation of

ALL SHOULD BACK IT

If every leader deserved and was entitled to the enthusiastic and unanimous support and help of the whole country on a measure, surely it is here. Nationalization is the greatest national question before the Island. It is a proposal for the greatest national benefit that shall ever have been conferred upon this country.

CURLERS' MEMORIAL DAY WEDNESDAY

The first Smoker, as has already been noticed in the paper, took place in the Curling Rink on Friday evening last, with the curlers and their guests. The Honoured Guest of the evening was the Rev. Lieut.-Col. Nangle, and his appeal to his brother curlers "I remember the deeds of the Boys who have fallen on Flanders Fields and elsewhere" will long be remembered and cherished by those present.

The Beaumont Hamel Notice Board of the Front Line Trench, as presented by Rev. Father Nangle, will occupy a most prominent place in the Curlers Association's Rooms, as stated President W. H. Duder.

Wednesday next 15th Feb. the Big Memorial Curling Day comes off. The Methodist Guards Band will be present in the morning. The C.C.C. Band in the afternoon. The C.L.B.C. Band at night. An all day program is being arranged, four sheets of ice are open from 9 to 11, 4 sheets of ice from 11-1, 4 sheets from 2-4, 4 sheets from 4-6, four sheets from 7-9. Already special matches for special amounts have been arranged, and the watchword of the Curlers, "BE UP AND DON'T BE SHORT," has certainly spelled another word which the Curlers have adopted in this Big Memorial Drive in memory of our Gallant Boys, which goes with the day is: UNITY. Every curler, 24 men and 75 Ladies are members of this committee, and from what we learn, all are taking part in the day. The guests, who visit the Curling Rink, have the day as much at heart as the curlers, and some of them have already shown their generosity. High Meat Teas at moderate prices will be served in St. Joseph's Hall, next to Curling Rink from 6 o'clock, by Lady Curlers, and Teas will be served in the Rink all during the afternoon for the moderate price of 30 cents as usual. We feel certain that it is only necessary to mention this fact that high teas are being served in St. Joseph's Hall next to Curling Rink to fill the hall to overflowing at 6 o'clock. "Get hungry."

The Lady Curlers have made up their minds, as usual, to make this their Big Day, and the Public is behind them. The Motto of all, Lady Curlers, Gentlemen Curlers, and the Guests who visit the Association is the same, BE UP, AND DON'T BE SHORT.

REMEMBER OUR GALLANT WARRIORS.

Five dollars or more will entitle the senders to five or more chances in the draw, and in addition the cards will be returned autographed by the two aviators. By this novel means Major Cotton hopes to be instrumental in swelling the funds of the War Memorial Fund to a considerable extent. Doubtless the flight will attract great enthusiasm. It is understood that Fr. Nangle will make the flight with Major Cotton and Captain Bennett on Wednesday.

We are always prepared to supply Bill Heads, Letter Heads and Envelopes at short notice. Union Publishing Company, Ltd.

Jack Dempsey Is Offered Another Bout With Carp

BIG PURSE WOULD BE PUT UP IF BATTLE WAS STAGED IN LONDON—HARRY WILLS MENTIONED

NEW YORK, Jan. 26.—A purse equal to the one he received for the Jersey City fight last summer has been offered Jack Dempsey for a second bout with Georges Carpentier, in London in July, Jack Kearns, the champion's manager, announced to-night.

Dempsey's share in the championship fight with the Frenchman on July 2 was said to have been $300,000, the largest stake ever offered a pugilist. Carpentier's share was $200,000. "This offer, of course, is more than tempting," said Kearns, "and I will announce my decision soon."

The London offer was made by a syndicate of sportsmen, Kearns said. It came on the heels of a message from William A. Brady, expressing his desire to match Dempsey and Harry Wills, in London.

In recent talk in the sporting world has included much of a return bout between Carpentier and the world's champion. The theory was advanced that Georges in a decisive bout would be able to stand off and take a chance at the Dempsey jaw instead of wading into quick defeat, as he did at Jersey City.

ST. JOHN'S, NEWFOUNDLAND, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1922.

The Tariff Revision

As we had intimated some weeks ago, we now learn that the Government have already decided to appoint a Commission who will go into the matter of a Revision of the Tariff, and the Minister of Finance will probably be able to announce the personnel of this important body very soon. It is a matter that has been engaging the attention of the Government for sometime, and has not needed the spur of the Opposition organs though they apparently are very anxious that Tariff Revision should come.

Tariff revision is something that will need mature consideration. It has to be remembered that a certain amount of revenue is necessary, and the Government's only desire is that this revenue should be raised in such a manner as shall bear most on the people and the commodities best able to bear it. It will be the idea of the Commission to devise a Tariff that will do this. It will not be easy to reconcile the different viewpoints on this question. Each individual business man naturally will have somewhat selfish views on the matter, looking to the "other man" to pay most of the taxes. We take it that the Commission will call in evidence from all branches of industry, get the opinions of all who have any suggestions to offer, find out the sources of revenue and from that reconstruct a tariff that will, perhaps, be better than the present one. There are certainly obvious objections to the present form of making out a Duty Entry. The taxing of duties was the best expedient when further revenue was required, but the Government viewed it only as a temporary measure. There is no doubt much trouble caused by the present method, but it will be replaced as soon as possible, though it must be recognized that a New Tariff is something which will require a great deal of time to evolve, and probably cause a great deal of discussion in the House when it is being scrutinized there.

We understand that the receipts at the Custom House to date on the present fiscal year are very much in excess of the same period last year. This shows that the old Colony is coming along in good shape.

President Harding's Views On Prohibition

"In every community men and women have had an opportunity now to know what prohibition means. They know that debts are more promptly paid; that men take home the wages that once were wasted in saloons; that families are better clothed and fed, and more money finds its way into the savings bank. In another generation I believe that liquor will have disappeared, not merely from our politics but from our memories. The very words associated with it will drop out of our vocabulary; a new race of young men and women will have grown up to whom these words will have no significance."

President Harding has been quoted as expressing the above beliefs on the prohibition question.

Little Man: "This is my first visit to a race-meeting and I feel thrilled." Veteran: "That's the idea, guv'nor. Had any luck?" Little Man: "Oh, yes! I found a jolly place where one can get tea and sandwiches quite reasonably."

MR. LEMESSURIER IS HONOURED BY CO-WORKERS

The 50th anniversary of his marriage was marked for H. W. Lemessurier, Esq., C.M.G., by an event that must have been very pleasing to him and Mrs. Lemessurier.

This was the presentation to the former on Saturday afternoon in the Long Room of the Custom House of an illuminated address and a handsome silver service by the Customs staff.

Shortly after 3 o'clock, the closing hours for business, Mr. Lemessurier left his office to find awaiting him in the Long Room the entire staff of the department.

Thereupon Mr. John F. Fox, first clerk, read the following address:

THE ADDRESS

To H. W. Lemessurier, Esq., C.M.G., Deputy Minister of Customs.

Bear Mr. Lemessurier,

On this 50th anniversary of your wedding, we, the staff of the Customs Department at St. John's, take occasion to extend to you and Mrs. Lemessurier our hearty congratulations and to offer you our best wishes, that you may be spared for many years to enjoy each other's society in the evening of life. We feel sure that both of you must find special cause for rejoicing to-day in the fact that your two sons and two daughters are able to join in the chorus of good wishes being extended to you from every quarter, and that, though great distances separate you from some of them, they are with you in spirit. We feel that it is a source of additional pleasure to you to know that for the past quarter of a century during which you have filled your present position, your services therein have won you merited recognition from the authorities at home and abroad, and that you have contributed in no small degree to the efficiency of the Department in the administration of which you share so largely, while it is equally a pleasure to us to testify to the uniform cordiality and good fellowship in the relations that have existed between you and us during the period you have been connected with the Public Service. As a token of our esteem and goodwill for you, we ask your acceptance of the accompanying Silver Service, and we renew the expression of our hope that you and your estimable wife may be blessed with many years of mutual companionship.

On behalf of Staff:
W. R. Stirling, T. P. Jackman, R. T. McGrath, A. B. Lemessurier, T. R. McGrath, J. H. Dee, John F. Fox, H. J. Watts, E. English.

The service which is both beautiful and costly bears the following inscription:

Presented to
H. W. Lemessurier, Esq., C.M.G.,
Deputy Minister of Customs,
on the 50th Anniversary of his Wedding.
With Best Wishes for Himself and Wife from the Staff of the Customs Department.
February 12th, 1872-1922.

MR. LEMESSURIER'S REPLY
In reply Mr. Lemessurier said:
My Dear Friends:

Words fail me to adequately express the thanks of Mrs. Lemessurier and myself for this very handsome present and beautiful address on the occasion of our Golden Wedding Anniversary.

The intrinsic value of the gift, great as it may be, is nothing compared with the kindly thought and wonderful generosity you now exhibit towards us and of which we shall ever be appreciative.

You have referred, in very complimentary terms, to my work here for the past quarter of a century. Some of you have been here since the time when I took charge of the department, while others of you have been here for long periods, and if any credit is to be taken for the manner in which the department has been conducted it has been gained by your assistance, co-operation and good-will. I again thank you heartily and assure you of the deep appreciation of Mrs. Lemessurier and myself of your beautiful gift and address.

Three cheers were called for then for Mr. and Mrs. Lemessurier and were given with a heartiness there was none lacking. Afterward the staff spent a social hour.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The situation in Ireland which seemed to be improving under the apparent efforts of Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins to obtain the release of the kidnapped Ulster men, has become acutely dangerous as a result of the Clonafurrow Saturday. The Times' Dublin correspondent says that dismay followed the news of the clash in which four special Ulster constabulary were killed, eight wounded, and six made prisoners, and leader of Sinn Féin, Malcolm Fitzpatrick shot dead. Provisional Government was highly perturbed as affray dashed high hopes based upon its amnesty proclamation and British decision to release all prisoners held for offences committed in England from Irish political motives, prior to truce in Ireland. Developments are awaited with utmost anxiety. Regarding kidnapped Ulster men, Times' Dublin correspondent reiterates that Provisional Government is doing its utmost to produce their release, but says it seems to have met with flat defiance from Irish Republican Army in county Monaghan, which will only agree to exchange these Unionists for foot ball players in Derry. The morning Post's correspondent, while declaring that Griffith and Collins "Mean well and if they got the chance would do well" says their difficulties are overcoming them and that they are steadily losing ground to Republicans. He adds "Irish public opinion, always unstable, has decided Develarites are on top and already is making up its mind to be on the winning side."

BELFAST, Feb. 13.—Colonial Secretary to Ulster Cabinet. Issued last night the following statement. Late to-night Sir James Craig received a telegram from the British Government saying that large additional Military Forces are available for Ulster. This will ensure that Enniskillen and other important centres will be amply provided for. The message was more reassuring on the general situation and shows that the British Government fully realizes gravity of the present state of affairs and are taking strong steps.

COLUMBUS, Miss., Feb. 13.—More than three hundred students of Mississippi College for women here are suffering from Ptomaline Poisoning as result of eating chicken salad which was served at evening meal at the College last night. Last night all were declared out of danger, but a large number were seriously ill.

TRINITY EAST COUNCIL HOLDS ANNUAL TIME

Good Speeches and Splendid Banquet Followed By Dance

(To the Editor)

Mr. W. Bannister.

Dear Sir,—Please grant me space in your highly esteemed paper to let the readers of the 'Advocate' know how we, the members of Trinity East Local Council of the F.P.U., spent our annual parade evening and night. Owing to the weather being stormy and the path being somewhat snowy, we didn't parade but we all assembled at our Hall at 5 p.m. where everything was put in order for the event by the committee in charge, the hall being nicely decorated. The ladies were also there with lots of good things for the tables and making preparations for the tea. Tables were then laid. The chairman then asked all to stand and sing grace after which full justice was and delivered one of the ablest speeches and recitations and songs were given. The chairman first took the platform and delivered one of the ablest speeches this council has heard for some time, his speech being on the F.P.U. and what it has done for the fishermen. The chairman stated one needed some brain to be able to tell the half of the benefits that have been derived by this great organization, the F.P.U., of which we assembled here this evening are a part. Our chairman did not have his speech prepared beforehand, it came straight from the heart, hence the reason for not having it to publish as the writer was not able to take it in shorthand. Past Chairman Geo. Fowlow also gave us an able address on this great Union, started and guided by that noble man, the Hon. W. F. Coaker. Songs were then sung by the following: Messrs. W. Fowlow, C. Evelyn, stump speech by M. Fifeild, which was well rendered and enjoyed by all. The hall was then cleared for the dance which was timed to start at 8 o'clock. The accordion was then put in action and the dance started, outsiders also being admitted but only a few got along as Jack Frost was very active. At 12.30 the good ladies again came to the front, tables again laid, lots of good things still to be had. All present sat around to partake of supper. After supper the following toasts were drunk:

The King—Prop. Mr. C. Evelyn; resp. "God Save the King."

Trinity East Local Council—prop. Mr. Weston Fowlow; resp. Mr. C. Evelyn.

Our Guests—Prop. C. Evelyn; resp.

The Chairman—Prop. Mr. W. Bannister; resp. The Chairman.

This finished, dancing was again resumed and kept up until 3 a.m. when we all wended our way home after spending one of the best entertainment held in the Union Hall. It is said that the Union always have a good time when they start a dance, but we all fully enjoyed the evening and night, and I'm sure the committee don't regret the little time spent in the decorating and getting ready for this great event which was such a great success on Jan. 24th. Let us stick to our Union and its President and may this Council prosper as time goes on. May 1922 be a prosperous year for us all.

May good health attend our President, And all his gallant crew.

We wish one and all a prosperous year This 1922.

I remain,

UNION.

Liver Pains

Pains under the shoulder blades tell of liver derangements.

Other indications are sallow complexion, indigestion, constipation, biliousness and bilious headaches.

The quickest way to arouse the liver to healthful action is by use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Continued use will insure lasting relief, correct the whole digestive system and purify the blood.

Mrs. Wm. Bartz, Hanover, Ont., writes:

"For some time I suffered from liver trouble. There was a hard, bearing-down feeling in my back which I could not get rid of. Some one advised me to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and found them excellent. The dragging feeling in my back disappeared and I felt much benefited generally. I have great confidence in Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and always keep them on hand for general use."

After distributing the prizes His Lordship pointed out what were the essential points to be aimed at by a model Sunday School child. He reminded the children that the Church throughout the Diocese looked to the Sunday School, not only to supply the regular worshippers, but also to find fit and suitable men for the priesthood. He then warmly commended the work of the teachers, and urged them to use every available means to improve their work of religious knowledge. Only thus could the Sunday Schools fulfill their proper function in the life of the Diocese.

PORT NELSON AND SHAMBLER'S COVE.

Dear Mr. Editor:

Just a few words from Port Nelson and Shambler's Cove Council to say we are still going ahead here in Union strength, and we all appreciate President Coaker's efforts to benefit our Island home in general, but especially the fishermen, who are in our estimation the backbone of our Dominion.

We held our annual meeting on the 9th inst. and elected for the coming year the following officers:

George Stagg—Chairman.

Charles White, Deputy Chairman.

Benjamin White, Secretary.

Robert White, Treasurer.

Arthur Vivian, Recording Treasurer.

Fred Stagg, Door Guard.

Silas White, Relieving Officer.

Although the year has been a troublesome one, and with many difficulties from a national point of view, yet enthusiasm for our splendid organization, the F. P. U., has not dampened in any particular.

We congratulate friend George Stagg on his 3rd year as chairman of our council, and with President Coaker as leader of the F. P. U. will overcome all obstacles in 1922.

Thanking you for space, Mr. Editor, and wishing you and your staff a happy and prosperous New Year.

I remain,
BENJAMIN WHITE,
Secretary.

WEDDING BELLS

Haystack,

Jan. 24th, 1922

QUINTON—GILBERT

The Church of St. Nicholas, Haystack, was the scene of a very pretty and popular wedding on Jan. 3rd, when Mr. Melvin S. R. Quinton led to the altar Miss Winifred M. Gilbert. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. Shorter. The bride was attended by her youngest sister, Miss Carrie M. Gilbert, while the groom's youngest brother, Ronald J. A. E. Quinton performed the duties of the best man. The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father, to the strains of the Silver Band March, while Miss Margaret Wakely presided at the organ. Hymn 551 was sung: "How welcome was the call." The bride was charmingly attired in a wedding gown of white silk with marabou trimming with veil of bridal net and wreath. The bride carried a bouquet of carnations, honey suckle and autumn roses, and was given away by her father, Mr. Stephen Gilbert. Numerous friends and guests witnessed the ceremony. Following the marriage ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the groom's parents, where tea was served, and dancing kept up until a late hour. Amongst the guests were the Rev. A. Shorter, Thomas Wakely, Esq., Mr. J. Stapleton, Inspector, Geo. Pike, Esq., Freeman Wareham, Esq., Capt. Harry Butler of the schr. Dazzle and crew, while Mr. Mansfield danced doubles and "tribbles" for the amusement of the guests. The bride was given many valuable and useful presents, including a gold piece from her brother, J. W. Gilbert, a set of fox furs from her father-in-law, Wm. Quinton. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Quinton many years of wedded happiness.

You May Be Starving In The Midst of Plenty

To Be Plump, Radiant and Attractive Your Body Cells Must Extract Every Particle of Nourishment from the Food You Eat.

TANLAC ASSISTS NATURE IN THIS AS NOTHING ELSE CAN

THE wondrous grace of softly blending curves, the enchantment of virile, palpitant flesh, the lure of dimpling skin and the irresistible magnetism of a body radiant with health and energy give to the normally filled-out woman an attractiveness and charm that is denied to her thin, angular, ungraceful sisters.

But, fortunately, emaciation is never natural. It is always the result of starvation. No matter how much the very thin person may be in the habit of eating, and no matter how excellent her food may be, she is in a half-starved condition. It is not the quantity of food eaten, but the quantity made use of by the body, that counts. When digestion is incomplete, or when the assimilative organs fail in their duties, one may starve in the midst of plenty.

What, then, should the thin, angular woman or man do to obtain real nourishment from food? This query has been answered by hundreds of thousands of people who have found that the use of the famous reconstructive tonic—Tanlac—so tones up and invigorates the whole digestive system, as well as the other vital organs of the body, as to promptly end the condition.

Improvement becomes noticeable at once. The appetite becomes keen and healthy, color creeps into faded cheeks, sparkle returns to dull eyes, energy replaces lassitude and the un-derly angles of form give way to soft rounding curves as each body cell receives its needed nourishment. If you are thin, do not envy the plump, radiant woman who seems to have all mankind at her feet. Remember, you can quickly become as she is. The wonderful medicine—Tanlac—is available to all who are thus handicapped. It has already made thousands of thin, frail women perfectly healthy and of normal weight, and it is only waiting for you to give it the opportunity to render you the same service. And Tanlac will not make you abnormally fleshy—it is not a mere flesh-builder. Tanlac simply puts the system into normal condition and Nature then builds the body to be the thing of grace and beauty and virile efficiency that it was intended to be. You will learn the truth of this by trying Tanlac.

Purchase Tanlac from any druggist. Do it to-day, and make a start toward health and greater beauty.

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

BOYS 'BORROW' HORSE TWO DEAD OF DISEASE
A Kelligrews man was on Saturday afternoon the victim of a prank played by some boys of the town, and was put to some inconvenience. He had tethered his horse to a telegraph pole on Walgrave street while he was getting a light lunch nearby, and while he was absent some boys took the horse off, presumably on a joy-ride. A policeman later found the animal near a forge on George street.

$70,000.00 FOR QUEEN'S COLLEGE

Shortage of Priests Necessitates Big Effort.

Funds totalling $70,000.00 are to be raised by subscription for the maintenance of Queen's College, or which almost $30,000.00 has been already realized. It has been unofficially announced.

The ever growing demand for clergymen for Newfoundland parishes and missions has made it necessary for a special effort to be put forth in order to supply the demand for priests, and the amount above mentioned will be raised as soon as possible.

At yesterday's session of the Cathedral Men's Bible Class, Rev. Dr. Facey, Principal of Queen's College, was the Speaker and he took occasion to deal with this very important matter of the shortage of priests and in doing so gave an extensive and deeply interesting account of the Church's history and growth in Newfoundland. He spoke of the work of the clergymen and laymen in the old days when each man had to cover a territory of seventeen hundred of miles, of the self-sacrificing efforts of these pioneers and of the growing needs of the Church, and practically the same practice exists to-day caused by the shortage of clergymen.

There was a large attendance of members, and all listened very attentively to the Rev. Gentleman's address and was greatly enjoyed.

POLICE METHODS QUESTIONED

Police methods in arresting prisoners were brought into the limelight in the Police Court this morning, when W. J. Higgins, K.C., who appeared on behalf of two men charged with assaulting the police, uttered some scathing remarks in the matter of discretion in arresting men.

The two men were charged with being drunk and with assaulting the policemen who arrested them. The arrest was made Saturday night. The prisoners were placed on a catamaran with their hands handcuffed together. A crowd of citizens followed the sled and, at one point, rushed the policemen for alleged cruelty to the prisoners. The legs of one of the latter were down under the sled, dragging in the snow, according to the policemen. The crowd separated the police from the cart and in trying to get the keys from their pockets tore the officers' coats and caps.

The police swore that one of the prisoners butted and kicked them.

Mr. Higgins, in cross examination, asked the policeman if he had kicked the man while he had him on the sled, and if he had on Saturday night told some gentleman that he had so done. The policeman would not swear that he had not told someone that Mr. Higgins stated that the man whom the constable told about kicking the prisoner had told him, Mr. Higgins the conversation.

The men were fined for being drunk and disorderly, but were acquitted of the charge of assaulting the police.

"BILLETED" IN AID OF MT. CASHEL

Beginning on to-morrow night and continuing until Friday, theatre-goers are going to enjoy a rare spread that will please every palate. First class drama interpreted by first-class artists, vaudeville of the most refined and entertaining type, and to crown all, most delightful music rendered in their best style by the C. C. C. Band.

The high-class comedy "Billeted" will be presented for the first time in the city. Just to mention the names of the artists is sufficient to fill the house—Mrs. Herbert Outerbridge is such a favorite of all classes that even her appearance on the stage is sufficient to evoke applause and in this play she has a part that gives ample range for her most pleasing and most dramatic repertoire. Mrs. Charles Hutton as "Madame Blum" in the "Quaker Girl" captured a first place in the ranks of local entertainers. With her vivacity and versatility she consolidates her position in "Billeted."

Miss Mary Ryan as "Betty Faradine" is a revelation; to her laurels as a leading contralto she now adds more as a leading dramatic star. Miss Kathleen Frazer with her clear enunciation makes a pleasing "Penelope," while Miss Maddie Ravanagh, the beloved of all theatre-goers, makes a dainty, delightful and delicious "Rose."

As for the male characters, it only need be said, the Messrs. King, Karl Trapnell, P. J. Grace and H. J. Dewling are at their very best, and so there is enough said. The varieties in the hands of Messrs. Wallace, Jardine and Hickey, assisted by the dancers from Mount Cashel, are almost attractive enough to fill the house by themselves, while Mrs. King who holds a unique place amongst our music lovers, will charm with some of her very best songs. When it is added that Mrs. Baxter, assisted by several interested a.d.s, is supervising every detail, then one need be no prophet to foretell that "Billeted" will rank as high in entertainment and amusement as the very best that ever has been produced by local artists.

TO-MORROW NIGHT'S CHAMPIONSHIP SPORTS MEET

SOME LOCAL ICE RECORDS.

To-morrow, Tuesday evening, the much talked of Indoor Championship ice racing meet takes place in the Prince's Rink at 8 o'clock. The programme consists of nine very interesting events, three of which will decide the championship for this year.

The Rink presented a very busy scene on Saturday morning and evening, when large numbers were engaged in testing their speed over the glassy surface. Seven mercantile teams had good try outs in preparation for the one mile relay race. A large number of entries for the other various events on the programme were received on Saturday evening. The half mile race for boys 15 and under at present has 18 entries. This necessarily means that at least three heats and a final will have to be run off before a winner can be decided upon.

Nothing need be said of the Old Vets' race and the championship contests, while the Carnival Competition, lady and gentleman partners garbed in the most original costumes will be unique. The competition will remain open for upwards of 15 minutes, the prize going to the lady and gentleman who skate the prettiest, the least number of strides from corner to corner down one side of the rink.

The following records of twenty-two years ago should prove interesting in view of Tuesday's meet. It is not known whether Marshall's record for the three-mile event has been broken, but anyway it will be useful for comparison. On February 20th, 1900, in an all-omers race, G. Marshall, who won, covered the distance in 12 minutes and 15 seconds. On March 8th of same year, Marshall and F. Chislett raced for the championship and tying—time for 3 miles, 10 minutes, 35 seconds. On March 29th they raced again, Marshall winning in 19 minutes, 58 seconds.

The officials for to-morrow evening's ice sports will be as follows: Starter, W. J. Higgins; Judges, J. C. Parsons, Fred Chislett, George Marshall, J. T. Vintcombe; Herald, A. H. Thomas; Timekeepers, C. Hall and M. Church; Scorers, Messrs. R. Field and P. Dobbin.
